The WEST VIRGINIA CHESS ASSOCIATION

ANNOUNCES

The WEST VIRGINIA JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP

JUNE 4-5, 1966

Last year the Junior Championship was rated by the U. S. Chess Federation for the first time. There was a definite feeling that it was a success and should be repeated this year. With this in mind, we are looking forward to an even bigger and better tournament. Remember, while only the winner gets a trophy, every one gets rating points, fun, new ideas, and 5 good games of tournament chess. Hope to see you there!

- TIME: June 4-5, 1966
- PLACE: YMCA-May Building, 935 10th Avenue, Huntington, W. Va.
- ELIGIBILITY: West Virginia residents under 21 on June 4, 1966. Players must be USCF members, which costs $5, and is well worth the price. Membership is obtainable at the tournament.
- FORM: The tournament will be a 5-round Swiss, 3 rounds on Saturday and 2 on Sunday, with a time limit of two hours for 50 moves.
- REGISTRATION: 9-9:45 EDT Saturday morning, June 4th. First round at 10:00 a.m.
- ENTRY FEE: $2.
- PRIZE: Trophy and title of West Virginia Junior Champion.
- TOURNAMENT DIRECTOR: David Marples.
- EQUIPMENT: Bring chess sets and clocks if you have them.

The Prichard and Frederick Hotels are recommended.

WEST VIRGINIA JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP Huntington, June 1965

---Held at the YMCA-May Building. There were 10 entries representing the three main chess centers of the state--Wheeling, Charleston, and Huntington. Marvin "Joe" Barker of Charleston and Bill Payne of Huntington tied for 1st-2nd with  $4\frac{1}{2}$ - $\frac{1}{2}$ . They drew with each other and won their other games. The level of play was higher than in recent years because the strong juniors were not busy in the senior championship. This was the first time the tournaments were held separately and the first time the "Junior" was rated. For a new idea requiring an extra expense by the juniors, the tournament was a success. It is to be repeated at the same site this year, and the players will decide on plans for next year. David Marples was tournament director.

WEST VIRGINIA SENIOR CHAMPIONSHIP Charleston, September 1965

---Held at the Daniel Boone Hotel over the Labor Day weekend, with 28 players from all parts of the state. For the 13th time in 22 years Dr. S. Werthammer of Huntington won the title of state champion, score  $5\frac{1}{2}$ - $\frac{1}{2}$ . He has been champion eight times and co-champion 5 times. He won from Don Scott of Bridgeport, O., Bob Bonwell and Dr. A. J. Darbes of Charleston, Bobby Duncan of Ashland, Ky., and Bill Payne of Huntington. He drew with Harry McKinney of Charleston. In second place with 5 wins and one loss was Payne, a junior at Huntington High School, and current junior co-champion. Among his opponents were Dr. Darbes and David Marples of St. Albans, then Charleston Champion. McKinney and former state champion John Downes of New Martinsville tied for 3rd-4th with  $4\frac{1}{2}$ - $1\frac{1}{2}$ . Tied for 5th-7th were Scott, John C. Scherer of South Charleston, each with 3 wins, 2 draws, and 1 loss, and Paul A. Sayre of Huntington, 4 wins and 2 losses. Upset prize--Bobby Duncan.

Dan Lowder was tournament director, with Dave Marples, Otto Lang, and Mike Gerrard assisting. Nine cities in W. Va. were represented with Ohio and Kentucky sending additional entries. Four players from the junior championship took part and gave a good account of themselves. This is the first year in which juniors could take part in both senior and junior championships.

The Daniel Boone Hotel again donated the use of its air-conditioned mezzanine room for the tournament.

BUSINESS SESSION

If anything constructive came from the business session, it was a realization that a reading of Roberts' "Rules of Order" would benefit several members. If they take the trouble, they will find it interesting as well as instructive.

One idea not brought up was Dr. Darbes' plan to have the winner of the speed tournament given official recognition as the state speed champion. There were 10 entries in the unofficial 5-minute tournament, won by Downes and Sayre with 4-1. Downes beat Sayre but lost another game.

RISE OF THE WEEKEND SWISS

Our chess chronology left off last issue after the January 1965 Holiday Open with the remark that the editor had won a second tournament in a row by a 5-0 score. The Ashland Open 1964 was the first. There were 8 opens in our 3-city area in 1965.

In its 3 1965 opens, Ashland had 50 entries, Huntington had 52 in its three. (With the closed Junior state championship, Huntington's total attendance was 62.) If we continue with just the opens and add Charleston's 2 tournaments, the Kanawha Valley Open with 24 and the State with 28, this gives us 52 more or 154 in our three cities' opens. (Ashland also had some closed tournaments rated and Chamberlain also had an unrated championship.)

It seems only a few years since someone spoke up in a WVCA business meeting and complained that there was only one rated tournament a year, the state championship, and then the association closed down the rest of the time. This particular complaint cannot be made now, but we certainly can complain about the lack of activity in the northern part of the state, as far as rated tournaments are concerned. Wheeling, Parkersburg, Morgantown--no news.

ASHLAND WINTER OPEN March 1965

This was the third in the "string". It was held at the Henry Clay Hotel. Attendance cut to 13 by insufficient advertising and the threat of a snowstorm which didn't materialize. Again my score was 5-0, and Julian Pugh, Jr., of Ashland, and John Brewster of Huntington tied for second with 3½-1½. Pugh and Miles May, also of Ashland, gave me a hard battle in the last two rounds. They and the other Ashland players were still gaining experience after their recent start.

HUNTINGTON-YMCA CC SPRING RATING TOURNAMENT April 1965

The fourth in the "string", this was also a small turnout--of eight players, only one came from out of town, Dr. Darbes. Again I won by a 5-0 score, my last three opponents being Frank Bruzzese, Darbes, and Charles Edwards. Darbes was second with 4-1.

"STRINGS"

The 4 tournaments made a series of 20 rated wins. The last game of the state tournament and the first game of the Forest City Open in Cleveland in May could be added to make it 22.

Such a long string is unusual because either the winner gets careless or his opponents take extra pains to get those points. Apparently the opposite was happening--the opponents were intimidated by the string and changed their style. As soon as I lost a few games, they lost fear and began beating me, as usual. In six tournaments since then, I ranged from an even score to one plus point. A new string!

John F. Hurt, Jr., former Charleston player now living in Memphis, had a much better record, winning at least 5 tournaments in a row last year. Though they were not all clean sweeps, they were strong tournaments. In one of them John defeated Milan Momic, the master. He won the Memphis Championship for the 4th time in 5 years, and is President of the Tennessee Chess Association.

FOREST CITY OPEN Cleveland, May 1965

There were 58 players including 2 masters (Ronald Finegold of Michigan and Erich Marchand of Rochester) and 8 experts in this event, directed by J. F. Klimowski. Finegold won 5-0, beating Jim Harkins, Jr., in the last round and then going back to complete his 4th round game with Noel, a masterly endgame (which he analyzed between their adjournment and the 5th round). The first prize was $100. Roger Johnson, Russell Olin, and Marchand tied for 2nd-4th with 4½-½.

Best editor could do was an even break, 2½-2½. After winning my first game, I played Woldemar Walter, a student-days friend of Paul Keres (pronounced Geddes--took time to decipher the accent). After beating me and breaking my string he told me several anecdotes about the grandmaster. Walter is a fancy-cake baker who now lives in Sandusky.

JOHN G. WHITE CHESS COLLECTION AT THE CLEVELAND PUBLIC LIBRARY

This is regarded as the finest chess collection in the world. There are textbooks, tournament books, problem books, histories and biographies, bound periodicals (including this one), and other items in practically every major language, and many minor ones, such as Icelandic and the Scandinavian group. There is of course an extensive Russian section along with much South American material and volumes in Chinese and other ideograph languages.

Some valuable space is taken up by such items as novels with a bare mention of a chess game or metaphor, but this is only the collector's fever gone rampant. There is a world of valuable material here, and chess scholars from faraway places come to do research. It was an honor to be allowed stack privileges by Dr. George J. Maciuszko for half an hour. These books may be called for and read in the reading room. Every one who loves chess should see this collection.

The W. Va. Chess Bulletin is complete except for serial numbers 1-45, 47, 87, 90, 93, 95, and 98, and Dr. Maciuszko wants these to be sent to him if they are available. To a collector, having a complete file means a lot.

1965 CAISSA AWARD

Winner of the 1965 Caissa plaque for leadership in organized chess was Joseph J. Chavayda, treasurer and former president of the Cleveland Chess Association. While president he helped organize the famous Cleveland Chess Center in 1956, and has been generally active there since 1943. It is a pleasure to find that he was born in West Virginia, in a mining town near Parsons, Tucker County.

HUNTINGTON OPEN, June 1965

A welcome surprise here was the appearance of Dr. Karl Burger of Brooklyn, N. Y., a senior master (then rated 2401). He won easily with a 5-0 score. Or perhaps not with complete ease, as only one opponent folded early. This was his first tournament in over a year, and he was out of practice. The five who did their best against great odds were John Brewster, William Payne, David Marples, H. Landis Marks, and John Spencer.

Burger was generous with praise and went over each game with his opponent. Several young players felt they learned something from the experience. It also had news value as the first time a senior master had played in a West Virginia tournament. Chess Life publicity pays, --26 players:

Marks, Spencer (of Columbus), Vernon Burk (Kettering, O.), and Marples tied for second to fifth at 4-1.

The third <sup>round</sup> was accompanied by square dance music from the next room, but this scheduling conflict had been eliminated for 1966.

When the ratings came out, Burger got only 5 points for his efforts which he lost in the recent U. S. Championship (2384 now). Nice to reflect that some of the points our players lost are now owned by Bobby Fischer & Co.

ASHLAND SUMMER OPEN June 1965

In this event Charles Boggs of Huntington made a successful return to the tournament trail, winning with a score of  $4\frac{1}{2}$ - $\frac{1}{2}$ . He won an interesting game from John Spencer (see games) who tied for 2nd-3rd with Dr. A. J. Darbes, 4-1. Bill Payne drew with Boggs and placed 4th,  $3\frac{1}{2}$ - $1\frac{1}{2}$ . There were 16 players.

CINCINNATI OPEN July 1965

Two Charleston players, Darbes and Harry McKinney, made a foray to this event and tied for the Class A prize with 4 other players with scores of  $3\frac{1}{2}$ - $1\frac{1}{2}$  (in a bracket with 2 experts). Richard Verber of Chicago and Adam Rueckert of Cincinnati tied for 1st-2nd at  $4\frac{1}{2}$ - $\frac{1}{2}$ . There were 46 entries.

KANAWHA VALLEY OPEN Charleston, August 1965

The first time this event was held as a weekend Swiss, and perhaps the beginning of a new era for the Charleston club, which is going in Boggs, Darbes, Ronald Kennedy, and Dr. Cornelius Nolasco. Marples, Boggs, and Nolasco each had 2 draws, while the others lost one game. Marples won the trophy on the tie-break, and the cash was split 5 ways.

A five-way tie for first is unusual, but now unheard-of. A W. Va. championship wound up that way about 1954 in Charleston.

Tournament director Alex Darbes put out a mimeographed edition of all the games which he mailed to the players and the editor.

SECOND ASHLAND OPEN October 1965

--held at the Ashland Club's meeting room in the Calvary Episcopal Church Parish House. Drew 21 entries, one more than last year.

The winner was Dr. Alex Darbes,  $4\frac{1}{2}$ - $\frac{1}{2}$ , who turned the tables on the editor in the last round. (I won our last-round game just a year earlier.) John Spencer of Columbus was second, 4-1.

The Ashland Club treated the players to a fine dinner at McClure's, with Dr. Richard Gardner as generous host, and Frank Bruzzese in charge of entertainment, sort-of.

Bobby Duncan and Ray Easton directed the tournament, and Duncan won the Ashland players' prize. This was the Rev. Arch Hewitt's last open before he moved to Wyoming. He was a moving spirit in the club and is very much missed.

HOLIDAY OPEN January 1966

Just as the Huntington Open featured our first "master", the Holiday Open featured our first "missus", or more exactly, the first W. Va. woman player in a Huntington tournament, Mrs. Suzanne Jacobs of South Charleston. She promised to try to inveigle some more ladies into entering tournaments. Husband John Jacobs won the unrated prize with a fine 3-2 score, beating a Class A player.

Dave Marples scored a convincing 5-0 sweep to take this event, defeating Frank Bruzzese, Joe Barker, Ron Kennedy, and Dr. A. J. Darbes.

There were 22 players, a good turnout for a winter tournament. Marples directing with Sayre assisting. David Franklin donated a trophy for the winner.

KENTUCKY CHESS ASSOCIATION

At the Holiday Open the Ashland players announced that they had formed the Kentucky Chess Association with a USCF charter and authority to conduct an official Kentucky Championship tournament each year. The officers are Will Hardy Davis, President; C. D. "Pete" Easton, Vice-President; and James R. Harris, Secretary-Treasurer. This is an important forward step for Kentucky chess. The Ashland players are preparing a strong effort to make it a statewide organization. They plan to hold their first state tournament next Labor Day weekend.

HUNTINGTON VS. CHARLESTON November 1965

A few years ago a Huntington-Charleston team match was held at Charleston in which the Huntington team won by a score of  $5\frac{1}{2}$ - $\frac{1}{2}$ . Editor withheld report till the next match--held last November--because it seemed not representative of Charleston's ability. The Charleston team, as expected redeemed themselves this time by winning  $2\frac{1}{2}$ - $1\frac{1}{2}$ .

In the former match winners were H. Landis Marks, Dr. A. J. Darbes (then of Huntington), Sayre, Boggs, and Bruzzese, while Tom Bergquist of Huntington drew with Marples. In the second match Marples won from Bruzzese and the other 3 games were drawn,--Darbes (now of Charleston) and Payne, Sayre and Foy, and Edwards of Huntington and Steve Gerrard of Charleston. In each case the losing team was short a key member. Interest in these matches is not so strong as it used to be.

WITH THE CLUBS

A comparison of our informal activities shows the Charleston club most lively. There was a Charleston championship, unrated, in the winter and spring of 1965, won by David Marples,  $7\frac{1}{2}$ - $1\frac{1}{2}$ , with Edward Foy, 7-2, second, and Jim Haught, 6-3, third.

Later there were frequent rapid-transit tournaments at various speeds 10-second, 5-second, and even one "progressive" from 5 up to 10 seconds. Also there were 5-minute tournaments. Darbes, Nolasco, Barker, McKinney, and Bonwell were some of the winners in the speed events.

Travel note--"Retired" Charleston player Bill Cuthbert won a tournament on board the S. S. Rotterdam in 1965.

Ed Foy kept up his weekly column in the Charleston Sunday paper with its usual high standard of local, national, and international news.

The Ashland club featured a number of rated, closed, club tournaments. The average rating of their top 5 players sent from the starting point of 1200 to 1540 in their first year, not counting Julian Pugh and Rev. Arch Hewitt, who moved away. Considering they started the year with all-new players this is a fine showing. It will be interesting to watch them grow.

The Huntington club marked time with rated individual matches, 30-30 tournament, and an occasional 5-minute tournament.

COLLEGE CHESS Progress on another front.

The first W. Va. Intercollegiate Individual Chess Tournament was held at Morris Harvey College in March, 1965. Randy Guill and Charles Szasz of Morris Harvey and Jim Marnell and Fred Smith of Marshall University tied for first to fourth with 4-1. Guill was awarded the championship on the tie-break. Morris Harvey also won the team trophy with 12 points. Other scores, Wheeling College, 11, Davis & Elkins 10, Marshall 9. Szasz was tournament director and Dr. A. J. Darbes was faculty advisor in charge of arrangements.

Szasz was the winner of the Morris Harvey championship held two weeks earlier.

In the fall of 1965, Ron Standley, a Pennsylvania student, won the W. Va. University championship in a tournament with 10 entries.

Donald Byrne, senior master, gave a 20-board simultaneous at WVU and Joe Barker and Harry McKinney, both of Charleston, obtained the only draws.

Could the WVCA find a way to encourage school and college chess?

BOOK TALK By editor.

THE MIDDLE GAME IN CHESS, By Reuben Fine, McKay Tartan Line, 442 pp., $2.25. A 1964 reprint of a 1952 classic.

An understanding of the middle game is important because this is where most games are decided. This is one of the few best all-around textbooks on the middle game.

The first third deals with combination play--elements, typical mates and combinative art. The last two thirds give a fine survey of position play--how to analyze a position for its advantages, form and execute a plan. The final two brief chapters show how to pass from opening to middle game and when and how to enter the endgame.

Other books may be more thorough on certain phases of the middle game--such as "Art of the Checkmate" for typical mates--but none is better for a comprehensive one-volume textbook.

The positions and games are carefully chosen from grandmaster tournaments, with just enough comment by grandmaster Fine for clarity. Highly recommended.

PROFILE OF A PRODIGY: THE LIFE AND GAMES OF BOBBY FISCHER, By Frank Brady, McKay, 1965, 250 pp., $6.50

A hundred pages on Fischer's life (about as much as you can write when a person is only 21) and 75 games annotated by Brady, a former Chess Life editor and once USCF business manager.

On the whole this is a fair and balanced estimate of a great American player, with good "backgrounding" in current chess history. The handling of the Fischer-Reshevsky match dispute is sympathetic and clears up much confusion.

But the criticism at the end of the book, showing Fischer in a "Garbo-like" withdrawal, is short-sighted. Young men usually grow up at 21, and there is a real need for a withdrawal, a thinking-things-over, particularly in the case of a child prodigy. Fischer has already emerged from this natural phase, taken part in 2 tournaments and scheduled more. In the first one, the Havana International "teletype" tournament right after the book was published, Brady was to be Fischer's referee. Fischer asked that he be replaced--which he was--because his presence was "distracting". And why not? It's in the book! Only Fischer speaks for Fischer. And who would want the feeling Brady was eyeing him as a subject for Volume Two? I get a distinct feeling Fischer disapproves of the book. He wrote no preface or testimonial and it does not appear to have had his cooperation.

As for the games, Brady's annotations are helpful but not deep, and you miss the grandmaster touch. The book seems to be for popular consumption, with limited value for the serious player.

SPECTACULAR CHESS PROBLEMS, By Kenneth Howard, Dover 1965, 117 pp., $1.00

A Dover original, not a reprint. Continues in the same historical vein as his "American Two-Movers" book, but with 3- and 4-movers added. Runs from 1955 to 1960, and has the same high quality as the 2-mover book. A fine feast for problem-lovers, but not for beginners.

WE GOT PROBLEMS The first 2 are from the above book.

Sayre's Cook!

1 KR-K3 P-K5 2 R-QN3 K-B4 3 RxP K-B3 4 R-QB4
K-B5 3 K-K5 any 4 KR-QB3

This book--found in a half-hour just looking at the diagram--illustrates the difference between game strategy and problem strategy. In a game we try to restrict the King until we give mate. In a problem we usually try to do the opposite, just to make the key less obvious. Thus a good key move is usually "away from the King". This explains how a cook can be overlooked for nearly a century--the composer and solvers were all looking for a problem-like key and missed the game-like cook. Howard had 3 solvers check his previous book for these flaws, but "you can't see 'em All".

Footnote by Howard, "E..."

reputation as a solver and for his ability to detect any flaw in a composition. While the origin of the term 'cook', designating a second solution to a problem, thus ruining its value, is not known, it has been suggested that it may have come from Cook's remarkable accuracy as an analyst." (P. 85)

As it happens, this cook could be eliminated by moving all the men two files to the left, preventing White's second move. A problem thus "repaired" is called a "version" and labeled with a "v".

2 This problem, #24 in Howard's book, was the first 4-mover I ever solved (after missing #13 and finding the cook instead). It is a good example of a problem with an easy key and difficult variations. The book gives only the lines I found easy: 1 Q-R8 R-Q6ch 2 K-B2ch etc. R-B5ch 2 K-N3ch etc.

But what if 1...R-KR5? Then there is no discovery. 2 QxR looks obvious, but how to finish? It's not obvious, but

1 Q-R8 R-KR5 2 QxR P-Q5ch 3 K-N3 etc.
K-R7 3 Q-B2ch etc.
also...K-N8 2 QxR K-R7 3 Q-B2ch etc.

Nevertheless (and now I am quoting Robert Burger in the California Chess Reporter, July-August 1965) "It is a paradox of problem composition that (while) a composer must never forget the solving process (including such things as surprise keys, difficult variations, etc.), he must not expect the enjoyment of his problems to come from them. This not mean that solving problems cannot be enjoyable, or that some chessplayers will never go beyond this phase.

"The real worth of a problem (and hence the enjoyment it is capable of giving) comes from the logical relation ship of all the variations in it.

"One of the first revelations of a student of problems is that a composer cannot create a variation simply by showing that White can mate in that way. The Black "defense", therefore, contains at least two elements: one which permits White to mate (a 'weakening' element), and one which precludes other White mates (a 'strengthening' element).

Mate in Three

"As an introduction, above are two classic examples of problems which are enjoyable to solve--but more enjoyable to analyze. The key of #3 is 1 Q-K5, the intersection (or critical square) of the black rooks. What does this threaten and why? After 1...RxP (why does this stop the threat?), 2 Q-K7 (why? Why not Q-Q6?) forces mate. In the solution the Queen must go to K7, KB5, and Q6, among other things. In #4--the "Love Chase" as Loyd named it--the Queen very rationally stations herself on a square from which she can threaten to simultaneously attack the B and KR7, no matter where he goes." A correction, thanks to Fred Wren; in the 1964 championship report, in the Brewster-Nolasco game, it was of course White who resigned. The cross-table can straighten out these puzzlements.
